The tenor of the reply was withheld. The official explanation was that it would be subject first to conferences by the cabinet and that it was unlikely to be divulged for some

HURLS NO-HIT NO-RUN GAME
Herring, Leeds Pitcher, Holds Wilton Batters Down
(Special to The Tribune.)
Wilton, N. D., Aug. 10.—One of the best baseball games of the season was witnessed here last evening when Leeds and Wilton met, Leeds winning by a score of 5 to 0.
Herring, of Leeds, pitched a no-hit, no-run game. He had the Wilton batters at his mercy practically all during the game and was aided by good fielding on the part of his mates. Cunningham pitched for Wilton and was touched up for seven hits. Two errors were chalked up against each team, but none was costly. The teams both played snappy ball throughout.
The Leeds team was declared by the local fans to be equal to the best that has appeared here this season. Among the teams which have played in Wilton are Minot, Fargo, Bismarck and Mandan. The two teams play here again this evening.

MINOT PLANS A FIELD DAY
Minot, Aug. 10.—Next Sunday Minot baseball fans will be treated to something of a diversion. George Caviness, play instructor is planning an athletic contest for baseball players and is selecting a team to play the Minot aggregation. Manager Moore of the Minoters is loaning Caviness enough players to make it a real baseball game and Hightower and Shirley will probably be the opposing pitchers. While the ball game will be one of the features, there will be many more. The athletic contests between the players will enable Minot fans to settle discussions as to which player can run the bases the fastest, which one has the best throw from the out-field and which one can make the best slide to a base.
DEMPSEY PICKS CARP TO WIN
Denver, Colo., Aug. 10.—George Carpenter was picked as winner over Tom Gibbons in the Gibbons-Carpenter bout to be held in New York, probably in October, by Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight pugilist, who spent several hours in Denver yesterday. Dempsey and his trainer, Teddy Hayes, are on their way to Los Angeles after a vacation of ten days spent in Antonito, Colo. Dempsey's childhood home.

SWIMMING CHAMPION TELLS YOU HOW TO FIND HAPPINESS
BY ALICE ROHE
New York, Aug. 10.—Eat, drink and be merry—but SWIM.
This is the advice of Miss Ethelda Bleibrey, the world's greatest woman swimmer. In her home in Brooklyn she is surrounded by swimming prizes from all over the world.
The 19-year-old American girl who has made athletes from Australia to Antwerp take notice, says she eats what she wants and whenever she is hungry.
"I don't diet. But I don't believe one should eat too much sweet stuff—unless it is ice cream. Oh, I never get enough ice cream. I eat loads of it every day.
"I sleep at the very least eight hours, but generally 10.
"But as for having any set rules of life—why—one doesn't have to have them if one just swims.
Swimming is the greatest corrector of all physical and mental ills in the world.
"You know I had spinal trouble and it was predicted I would be a life-long invalid. But I took up swimming three years ago—and look at me now!"
It is indeed "easy to look at" Miss Bleibrey.
Tall, well-shaped, virile, beautifully developed, her handsome face crowned by a thatch of bobbed, blond hair.
Swimming doesn't overdevelop the muscles or make them bulky," continues Miss Bleibrey. "Another thing, swimming doesn't overtire a person. After a good swim one feels relaxed, refreshed.
"I'm always on the go—to theaters, dances, movies. But I'd give them all up if I had to choose between them and swimming."
A month ago by Manager Evers for failure to keep in condition while the club was in the east, and the suspension expired yesterday. He reported to the new manager, Bill Killefer, and was advised to seek reinstatement by Judge Landis.
GIBBONS TELLS HOW BOXER MUST NURSE HIS HANDS
Fighter Who is Matched to Meet Carpenter Takes Good Care of "Dukes"
BY TOMMY GIBBONS
Light Heavyweight Contender
Osakis, Minn., Aug.—Hands are the most important part of a fighter's makeup.
They should serve for another purpose than just to hang a pair of gloves on.
At the end of every blow is the hand inside the leather.
Yet few boxers take proper care of their hands.
"They exercise their legs for footwork, their bodies for swiftness, their eyes for judging distance, their arms for swinging, their heads for ducking. But they let their hands take care of themselves.
I found out the value of proper care of the hands a long time ago.
Just as Charley Paddock exercises his legs to break running records and Jim Barnes and Bill Tilden their wrists to win golf and tennis titles, I give my hands special workouts."
Handball
I play a lot of handball. It toughens the hands. My brother Mike and I built a cement-floored handball court here at our cottages on Osakis lake.
I play every day now. A storm recently blew some trees down across it. But I had the carpenters on the job in a jiffy to rebuild it.
If you are going to have knockout hands you must develop them just as you do your legs and arms.
A fellow, I don't remember his name now, advised me to take special hand exercises. That was six or seven years ago. I didn't think anything about it then for my hands had never bothered me.
A couple of years ago a hurt my thumb. I remembered what he had told me.
Grip Exercise
I got the habit of carrying a small rubber ball with me wherever I went. I keep massaging it until my hand gets tired.
On the street, riding on the trains, or wherever I am, I carry the ball with me and exercise my hands gripping it.
You'd be surprised how strong your clutch becomes. It hardens the little muscles of the fingers. Your grip becomes like a vise. And all the time you are developing the muscles in your wrists, forearms and even shoulders.
Hardens Bones
My hands have never bothered me since I began this little exercise trick.
ETHELDA BLEIBREY
Some boxers have trouble with their hands continually. After they fight their hands are out of business.
A bad hand has been the cause of calling off many a match. It costs a fighter money to have to wait on a bum hand to mend.
Johnny Gibbons has always had trouble with his hands. He's had a lot of hard fights and busted his sockers many times.
Hand Trouble
Of the heavyweights Bob Martin has had trouble.
Carpenter broke his hand when he fought Dempsey.
Most every fighter has more or less trouble.
Some of it may be due to brittle bones. But brittle bones can be protected a lot by developing the fibre like muscles in the fingers and joints.
Knockout hands must be tough—hard—strong.
This little habit of gripping a rubber ball is one way to get them.
If I'm going to knock out Carpenter I'll need good hands. And when I fight Dempsey I'll need a pair of iron mikes.

BENTON GOES TO ST. PAUL
By Associated Press Leased Wire
St. Paul, Aug. 10.—Rube Benton, pitcher with the New York Giants, reported today to the St. Paul American Association club at Kansas City, according to word received here last night.
Benton originally was ordered to St. Paul in a deal whereby the Giants obtained Pat Shea, pitcher, from the local club. He joined Kansas City, however, and then Manager McGraw recalled him. The matter was referred to Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, and it is understood Benton was asked to report to St. Paul.

LAY PLANS TO WIN BUSINESS
Berlin, Aug. 10.—(The Associated Press)—German export manufacturers are laying plans to win control of 60 per cent of the world's commerce by the time the war indemnity is liquidated and to do this, which they consider essential if Germany is to meet promptly her obligations to former enemy countries and remain economically sound, "feelers" have been put out for negotiations for extensive credit loans in virtually every country once interested or now attracted by German trade possibilities.
The German manufacturers, who are understood to be closely co-operating in plans to launch the campaign for world commerce, are hoping for special agreements with American manufacturers which would not take into consideration in any appreciable manner the proposal of the American Finance Trade Corporation to establish a $1,000,000 buying fund in the United States for Teutons.
Already a number of tentative agreements have been made between German and American firms "on pre-war acquaintance and post-war money values," but the fluctuating mark and the high cost of the dollar have rendered any large deals on a strictly cash basis out of the question.
The delay in declaring the state of war between the two countries at an end also has embarrassed manufacturers in both countries, and even now, that peace has been declared, the situation is uncertain because it is believed many weeks must elapse before the nationals of either country know approximately what the new relations will be.
The Germans are placing their principal hope for favorable relations with American concerns in a scheme by which they would act as "European agents" for the Americans, and would manufacture in Germany raw materials sent from the United States and sell these manufactured goods to the American customers here on a percentage basis. This scheme already has been proposed to certain American manufacturers. Concerning this plan an informant in close touch with the German industrialists said:
"Many German factories are now working only half-time, not because there is no market for their goods, but because they are unable to secure raw materials at reasonable prices. The cost of production in Germany is so much less than it is in America that the Americans, as well as the Germans, could co-operate profitably in meeting the European demand for manufactured articles. The market for cotton goods, for agricultural machinery, for automobiles, in fact for all sorts of machinery, will not be over-supplied for many years.

"This proposal is particularly timely now, when it is estimated that the world's surplus cotton crop this year will exceed last year's by five and a half million bales. The European demand for cotton goods has been decreased by the substitutes which Germans especially have been forced to manufacture, but it would promptly revive if the goods could be placed cheaply before consumers. The high cost of labor and the high value of American money abroad makes it next to impossible for the Americans to meet this demand. The Germans feel they could do it.
"There is another point which the German industrialists are making in their argument for co-operation with American manufacturers—the increasing output of the German mills is bound adversely to affect American foreign trade, for Americans cannot compete with the Germans in many lines, owing to the difference in the cost of production. Co-operation would give the two countries a virtual world monopoly on a large percentage of commerce and be profitable to both sides.
"If no working agreement can be reached in the European trade the German plans call for the sharpest competition possible. German competition already is making itself manifest in the South American trade, where the Germans are rapidly regaining their pre-war prestige. I know of one American concern which last year shipped 35,000 tons of goods to South American countries but in the next 12 months will send less than 12,000 tons. The Germans have sold the other 23,000 tons.
"The trade problem is now and always will be simply a question of where to buy cheaply, as long as the quality is approximately the same, and in the matter of quality the German manufacturers have received few complaints."
Some German capitalists believe it will be 10 to 15 years before Germany again can wield anything like her old-time power in world commerce but the more optimistic are figuring on a shorter period.
ESSEX DEALER RECALLS HISTORIC EVENT
The R. B. Loubek Motor Company, local dealers for Essex and Hudson cars, are calling all Essex owners' attention to the fact that today is the anniversary of the establishing of the fastest record of coast to coast travel ever made by motor car.
And in addition it is the anniversary of the first time United States Mail was ever carried across the country by motor car.
Just a year ago, four Essex cars, each carrying, by special Government permission, pouches of first class mail matter, dashed from coast to coast two eastbound from San Francisco to New York, and two westbound from New York to San Francisco.
Car No. 1, eastbound, reached New York in the wonderful time of 4 days, 14 hours and 43 minutes. The other three cars each established records of only a few hours longer—all four of them beating the best previous mark by many hours.
Driven by 25 different pilots, using whatever grade of gas and oil was available, overcoming road conditions, in some cases terrible, these Essex cars established a record for reliability and endurance hard to equal. Their time records have never since been approached.

FRAZIER BARS TWO OFFICERS OF BURKE CO.

Suspends Them Pending Hearing on Charges Preferred Against Them

Howells, N. D. Aug. 11.—Governor Frazier applying the law governing removal of county officers, has removed County Commissioners John C. Grubb and H. A. Kirkcaldie of Burke county pending a hearing. The removed County Commissioners John C. Grubb and H. A. Kirkcaldie of Burke county were removed from office by Governor Frazier on the ground that they had not taken the oath of office before the expiration of their term.

The removal of the two commissioners is another development in the effort of Burke county officials to recover $165,000 of county funds which Lawrence Larsen, former county treasurer, loaned out on time deposits to banks in Burke county prior to quitting office May 1. J. R. Jensen, the new county treasurer, had announced that on assuming office he would send the county's money to the Bank of North Dakota. The county commissioners Grubb and Kirkcaldie, the majority members of the board, approved the action on the part of Larsen.

Nature of Charges.
The charges against the two suspended commissioners are that they participated in the loaning of the public funds of Burke county contrary to the state law and paid certain bills without certified bills being presented. They are also charged with spending money in excess of that amount turned in a resolution authorizing the sale of seed bonds.

PLAN AID FOR S. W. COUNTIES

Meeting Held at Mott to Discuss Action

Mott, N. D. Aug. 11.—Various measures for the relief of drought-stricken counties of the Slope country were outlined at a meeting here of county commissioners of the district affected. Local efforts toward relieving the district consisted of the organization of an executive committee of one commissioner from each of the counties of Hettinger, Stark, Grant, Morton, Slope, Bowman, Billings, and Adams. Oscar Strehlow of New England was named chairman, and F. G. Orr of Mott secretary.

The chief duty of this committee is to co-operate in selling about $150,000 worth of funding bonds to raise money to pay outstanding unpaid warrants and to loan to farmers to buy feed and seed.

Resolutions were adopted providing that farmers try to plant at least one-third of their land to feed crops.

THE TRIALS OF A HOUSEWIFE

How They Have Been Endured and How Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Experience of a Providence Woman

Providence, R. I.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female trouble and backache. It began just after my baby was born, and I did the best I could about getting my work done, but I had awful bearing-down pains so I could not stand on my feet. I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the good it was doing other women, and I have got dandy results from it and will always recommend it. You can use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HERBERT L. CASSEN, 18 Men Court, Providence, R. I.

Ohio woman for three years could hardly keep about and do her housework as she was so ill. Made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound: Fayette, O.—"For about three years I was very nervous and had backache, sideache, dragging-down pains, could not sleep at night, and had no appetite. At times I could hardly do my housework. I got medicine from the doctor but it did not help me. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and took it with good results, and am now able to do my housework. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. CHESTER A. BALL, R. 15, Fayette, Ohio.

An Illinois woman relates her experience: Bloomington, Ill.—"I was never very strong and female trouble kept me so weak I had no interest in my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or sweep a room without raging with pain. Rubbing my back with alcohol sometimes eased the pain for a few hours, but did not stop it. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and six bottles of it have made me as strong and healthy as any woman, and I give my thanks to it for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQuitty, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

The conditions described by Mrs. Cassen, Mrs. Ball, and Mrs. McQuitty will appeal to many women who struggle on with their daily tasks in just such conditions—in fact, it is said that the tragedy in the lives of some women is almost beyond belief. Day in and day out they slave in their homes for their families—and beside the daily routine of housework, often make clothes for them selves and for their children or work in their gardens, all the while suffering from those awful bearing-down pains, backache, headaches, nervousness, the blues, and troubles which sap the very foundation of life until there comes a time when nature gives out and an operation seems inevitable. If such women would only profit by the experience of these three women, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the natural restorative for such conditions it may save them years of suffering and unhappiness.

There is hardly a neighborhood in any town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been restored to health by this famous medicine. Therefore ask your neighbor, and you will find in a great many cases that at some time or other she has been benefited by taking it, and will recommend it to you. For more than forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring women to health and strength. Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

IN MEMORY OF HEROES
Seventeen states have about matured their plans for memorial buildings to perpetuate the memory of the American soldiers who died in the World War.
Unlike memorials erected after previous wars, those now contemplated will serve some useful purpose. They will combine beauty and reverence with usefulness.
This same trend is evident in memorials that have been proposed in England and France.
The strictly monument type of memorial appears to have nearly run its course. Its place is taken by memorial libraries, hospitals, auditoriums, stadiums and amphitheatres.

Two years from now, the University of Illinois expects to open a $2,000,000 athletic stadium and recreational field. It will seat 75,000—the largest athletic plan of its kind in the country.
While this stadium is being financed by the university's students and alumni, without state aid, it will be a memorial to every Illinois soldier that died in the war.
The University of Kansas is erecting a similar memorial stadium. Its first section is expected to be completed in time for the Kansas-Missouri football game in November.
The University of Nebraska, with state and public aid, is erecting a memorial gymnasium.

Connecticut, for her state war memorial, is considering placing milestones on her highways, each stone engraved in honor of an individual Connecticut man who made the supreme sacrifice.
Pennsylvania plans a giant memorial building connecting the two parts of the city of Harrisburg.
Indianapolis, which already has one of the world's five greatest war monuments, will be the site of a $2,000,000 state memorial. Probably a Coliseum, with memorial halls, auditoriums, trophy rooms and American Legion headquarters.
Massachusetts will build a similar structure in Boston, in addition to monuments on the battlefields of France and arrangements for permanently taking care of graves there.
Colorado has appropriated large sums for erection of memorial armories.
Virginia will build a $500,000 memorial library. Utah contemplates the same.
Some cities have planted a shade tree for each of their soldier dead. This idea is spreading. One plan, now gathering much support, proposes lining the Lincoln Highway from New York harbor to the Golden Gate, and the Dixie Highway from Chicago to Florida, with memorial trees.

When Attila the Hun died, he was buried in an unknown river in a triple tomb with alternate walls of gold, silver and iron. Slaves who buried him were executed to keep the grave secret.
Romans, commemorating their war dead, gave the world memorial arches.
That the memorials we are building in honor of our war heroes are tending toward useful structures, is evidence of an increasing spirituality.
The boys who died in France need no marble or bronze.
Their real memorial will be in the Soul of America.

ROOMS WITH BATH
"Everybody wants a room with bath," complains a New York hotel man. "No rate is too high for people to pay if a private bath goes with the room. But we can't fix the rates low enough on rooms without, to keep them filled."
And yet only a couple of generations ago there wasn't a bath tub, in the modern sense, in the United States.
The first bath was installed in Cincinnati in 1842 and the man who installed it was considered "queer." Boston in 1845 passed an ordinance making bathing in a tub unlawful, except on medical advice.

KINGS
Kings must come off their high horse—even dead kings!
This cry isn't raised in Russia, but in England, where there is much adverse criticism of an equestrian statue of King Edward by Bertram McKennal, recently unveiled in London.
The sculptor did a good likeness of the king, but concentrated mostly on the charger.
The Manchester Guardian points out King Edward's chief recommendation to posterity is that he was not military, and adds:

"Surely the art of sculpture can invent some way of dealing with such a characteristic and individual personage as King Edward without representing him only as an ordinary royal symbol."
SILK VS. STEEL
The silk mills of Rhode Island are running full speed and many of them are employing night shifts. The same is true of the Philadelphia silk yarn mills.
If there were less activity in the silk mills and more in the steel mills, the country would be better off.

BRUTALITY
Recently a Pittsburg child has been scared into imbecility by a bogie man threat. Now an Oregon youngster has been drowned in fleeing from a camper who threatened to cut off his ears.
Both threats were made in jest.
Who'll be the next brute to prey on the fears of little children?

HYLAN
Ask the average person who reads the newspapers, to name the worst mayor New York City ever had and it's pretty certain he will name Hy-lan, the present mayor.
And yet the betting odds in New York are 2 1/2 to 1 that Hy-lan will be elected to succeed himself this fall.
Hy-lan in New York and Thompson in Chicago furnish pretty convincing evidence that the people of the two greatest American cities enjoy being misgoverned.

HOLDING HANDS
We don't know why they're all doing it, but we've seen it on Broadway, New York, and Market street, San Francisco, on Main street, Painesville, O., and in Pawhuska, Okla.
They're all holding hands.
We don't know why they're doing it. Maybe because the young doughboys brought the habit back from France and the old doughboys contracted the habit.
Of course, it isn't good etiquette—but who cares for etiquette nowadays?

FATALISM
Of all the allied war fliers none was more daring than Captain Anselme Marchal of the French army. Everyone expected him to be killed.
In June, 1916, he flew from Nancy to Berlin, dropped leaflets on the German capital, proceeded onward, disappeared and was given up for dead. But he had had a forced landing, was captured and—then he escaped. More battle exploits.
The other day he was killed while driving in an automobile at moderate speed.
Food for argument for fatalists.

CARUSO'S WEALTH
The Caruso fortune, according to reports from Italy, is estimated at 30,000,000 lire. The greater part of it is invested in Italian real estate and securities.
At the normal rate of exchange this would be $6,000,000, but at the present rate of exchange it is only $1,263,000.
Mrs. Caruso has decided to live in Italy. The fact that her money will go about five times as far there may not be the reason, but it would be a perfectly good reason.

A PAINLESS TAX
Says the Philadelphia Inquirer: "Why not a painless tax here? 'The sales tax has become a thing decidedly worth talking about,' says Professor Leacock in Collier's. We agree with him. If Canada can have a 'painless tax,' why cannot the United States?"
Says the Boston Herald: "The wonderful thing about the Canadian sales tax, according to Professor Leacock in Collier's, is that the consumer is practically unaware that it is there. No tax is levied on retail sales. The tax does not apply to sales made by the farmer, and the list of exemptions contains 91 items. Yet, small as the tax is, it brought in about $50,000,000 in the first year. A proportionate yield with our population would give us $600,000,000. The revenue from the sales tax has made it possible in Canada to abolish last month the business-profits tax and the always unpopular luxury tax."
Says the Hartford Times: "Congress could turn to Canada for experience and profit thereby. In Collier's, Professor Stephen Leacock, probably the most distinguished economist in the Dominion, explains how the Dominion government has been most pleasantly surprised by the productivity of a sales tax, and by the complete absence of public criticism of it. 'No new burdens are put upon business; there is no new prying into private affairs. If the sales-tax idea can be so successfully carried out by our neighbor to the north, there is no reason why it cannot be successfully carried out by us.'"
These are quotations in brief from a few editorial pages. More next week. Meanwhile Collier's is glad to hear from any reader who has had personal experience with the sales tax.—Collier's Weekly.

"Find his family well!" exclaimed a voice nearby.
Nancy and Nick started with Scramble Squirrel toward his home in the maple-tree down on the earth (you know old Whizzy Tornado had picked him up and tossed him through the sky to Sprinkle Blow's star).
Their little Green Shoes set them down softly on a mossy place in Whispering Forest, not ten feet from the place Scramble lived; Scramble thanked them and said that they need not come no further as he knew the rest of the way as well as they knew how to walk up their own front stairs.
"I do hope that you'll find your family well," said Nancy as she bade him good-bye. "We're sorry you had such an unpleasant trip and we hope that old Whizzy will let you alone after this."
"Find his family well!" exclaimed a voice near by. "If he finds his family at all, he'll be a hundred and ninety-nine times luckier than the rest of us!" It was Ben Bunny, and as he hopped up close to the twins and Scramble Squirrel, he took his little red hanky out of his waistcoat pocket (the only wore the waistcoat sometimes) and wiped his brow. As he said to a friend of his, one always looked more worried when he wiped his brow, and got more sympathy.
"Why!" said Nick. "Can't you find your family, Mr. Benjamin?"
"Not mine," said Ben mopping again for all he was worth. "But somebody's. I've got the queerest bunch of creatures on my hands you ever saw. Whizzy Tornado has not only taken away half the people who lived in Whispering Forest and the neighborhood, but he's played a meaner trick still. He's dumped down some of the oddest creatures you can imagine, and such a mixup! Come along and I'll show you."

MANDAN NOTES TO BUY CATTLE.
Judge Wartner, Hugh Montgomery, Dr. Wells and Mr. Foost, a retired farmer, all from Wells county in the Harvey neighborhood, were in Mandan Monday enroute to New Salem, where they plan to buy a number of pure bred Holsteins and build up a breeding circuit in their section.
The publicity given to the New Salem country through the recent tour is destined to bring to them many applicants for pure bred stock and to stimulate greater attention to dairying.

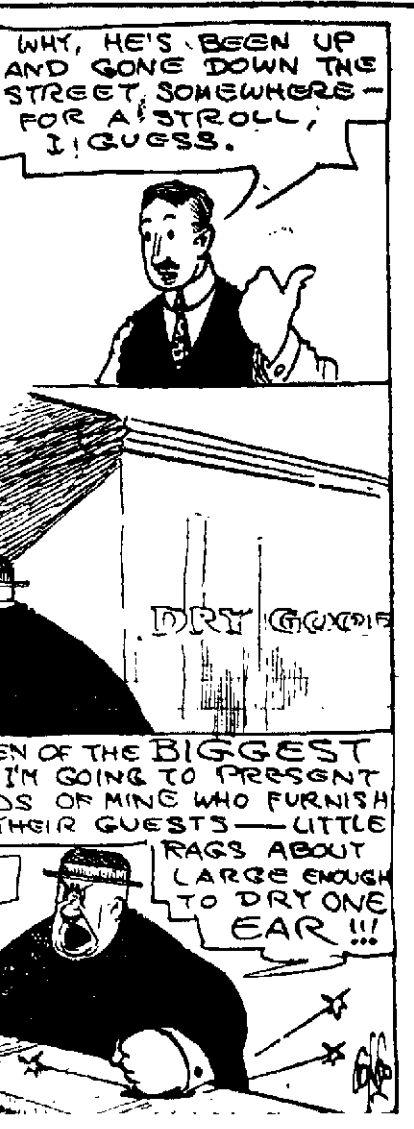

DIES AFTER LINGERING ILLNESS.
Mrs. George Boehm, aged 57, died here yesterday afternoon. Deceased was a prominent resident of the St. Vincent vicinity and had been ill for some time. The cause of her death was gallstones.
Besides her husband, four sons and three daughters remain to mourn her death.
The remains were taken from the Kennedy undertaking parlors to the home near St. Vincent where the funeral will be held from the St. Vincent church tomorrow morning.

The Mandan News through its attorneys, Charles L. Crum and T. J. Krause, today carried to the supreme court an effort to force the city commission to pay it some $350 out of the general funds of the city.
The Mandan News as official paper published two notices of appeal assessments on the white way construction, one amounted to $282.70, the other to $280.72.
H. L. Henke, president of the city commission, and W. H. Seitz, auditor, signed warrants and tendered them to the News drawn on the special lighting assessment fund. However, the News insisted that it be paid the money from the general fund. The city officials refused to do this, claiming that the cost of advertising should come out of the general fund, and that the general fund was depleted and the bills could not be paid out of that fund if the city so desired.
The News, under a writ of mandamus sought to have the commission ordered to pay the money out of the general fund. Judge H. L. Berry yesterday morning developed internal hemorrhages and doubt was expressed as to her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Timmerman and daughter, Mary, and Miss Agnes Olson, have returned from a two weeks trip to Yellowstone National Park and points in Wyoming.
John B. Fried of Jamestown is a business caller in Mandan for several days.
D. S. Kengelly has left for a short visit at Chico Hot Springs, Mont. He will be met at Livingston by Mrs. D. S. Littlehales of Jamestown and son and daughter, Billy and Bernice.
Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Peterson and family have returned from an auto trip to the Killedeer mountains.

Dr. Edmund Mackey of Wallfort, Minn., formerly of this city, is here on business matters and visiting friends.
R. A. Countryman of the Mandan Mercantile Company, is ill and is confined to his home.
Mrs. John Burke left last night for Missoula, Mont., where she will visit with relatives.
Mrs. C. E. Dorfler and son, Eugene, and guests, Mrs. Henry Garvey and daughter, of Fairbault, Minn., left this morning for Glendive, where they will visit Mrs. Dorfler's sister, Mrs. R. J. Higgins.
Fred Wick of Center, and father of Plymouth, Wis., were visiting in Mandan yesterday.
Jos. Cruthwaite, who has been a patient at Chico Hot Springs, for a number of weeks, has been removed to the Northern Pacific hospital at Tacoma, Wash.

Tom H. - a Job Wished on Him

BY ALLMAN

A NEW FIRM.

A Bismarck owner in a New Hampshire town, a short while ago, had his way to the railroad station with the day's consignment of eggs to several commission merchants of Boston, was halted by a gnat neighbor.
"Who've sent them eggs to, Carl?" the neighbor wanted to know.
"Oh, various and sundry," the egg raiser replied.
"Not a new customer, hey? Pleased ter hear it."

In Line for a Fee.
The Motorist—Say, friend, my engine's stalled. Think you can help me find out what's the matter with it?
"Consable Tallimber—I can, but I won't just now. I can't pluck you for speedin', but in ten minutes I'll fix up your engine and then pluck you for parkin' here too long."

Things Even Up.
"Some of these jitney drivers crowd in passengers so that a girl has to ride on a man's lap."
"It doesn't seem right to make the girl's pay full fare."
"Oh, things even up. The young man isn't charged anything additional."

Mrs. B.—Men are such brutes! Mrs. C.—Aren't they? What was it your husband refused to buy for you today?

Didn't Start It.
His wife reproved him sharply. When he his razor cutted "Why don't you scold the blader?" he said. "It lost its temper first."

Bluebeard Explains.
The Interviewer—Why did you assassinate all your wives as soon as the honeymoon was over?
Bluebeard—You see, I'd promised to love each one as long as she lived, and no matter what other she I've committed, I never disappointed a lady.

Eloquence.
"You don't display your old-time eloquence in public."
"Not in public," admitted Senator Sorghum, "but you ought to hear me in my office when I'm explaining to a group of influential constituents why I haven't been able to carry out some of their ideas."

Not Receiving.
The Maid—It's the doctor, ma'am. You sent for him, you know.
Mrs. Verivue—I know I did, but my eyes are watery, my nose is red, my lips are blistered and I look too much of a fright to have him see me. Tell him I'm not at home.

Well Fixed.
"Ferdie seems to be making better progress with the girl he is courting. Now has the field to himself."
"Yes, he gave her a dog that will bite anybody he doesn't know. And the dog doesn't know anybody in this town but Ferdie."

Between Girls.
"Where is Cholly?"
"On a business trip to California. I hope he won't make love to any of those western girls."
"Why so? Any practice he gets will be helpful when he returns."

Unsatisfied.
Man is made of dust and is generally out for more.—Boston Transcript.

Electric boilers are taking the place of fuel-fired boilers in Switzerland where the cost of coal is high.

OR HE WOULDN'T HAVE PLUNGED
Wifey: At least you were sensible on your wedding day.
Hubby: On the contrary I was insensible.

Why It Fell.
The tower of Babel insecure
Was from the start unlawful.
Materials were very poor
And the building craft was awful.

The Real Titleholder.
Storn Father—See here, young man; who do you think is boss around here— you or me?
The Young Miscreant—Suh, pa; mother is just in the next room— Judge.

No Novice.
Duke—What's your opinion of the Malthusian theory?
Duke's Aw, it takes a regular brew-master to turn out any malt beverage fit to enthuse over.

Terrible Blow.
"The baker's daughter turned me down."
"Did it break your heart?"
"Worse than that. It ruined my credit!"

Ups and Downs.
"Life has its ups and downs."
"Yes," replied Mr. Growcher, "keeping up appearances and keeping down expenses."

SIGN OF LUCK
Mr. Black: Is de left foot of a rabbit a sign of luck?
Mr. Brown: Tis, if you own de rest of de rabbit.

Pardon me lady, but is this number seven, seven?
No! But I can give you just as good a job as they can at No. 714.

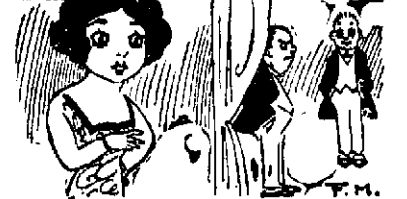

He: Why I'm surprised to hear that she is suing him for breach of promise.
She: Serious! I should say it was. Why she's got about five worn out sofa pillows, one parlor lamp that won't burn, and a door mat with the "Welcome" all worn off it.

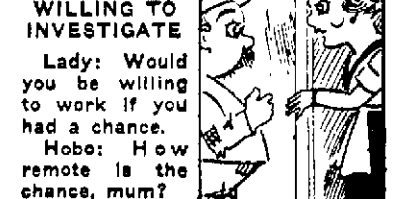

"What is alimony, ma?"
"Something that is considered by many women as an improvement on a husband."

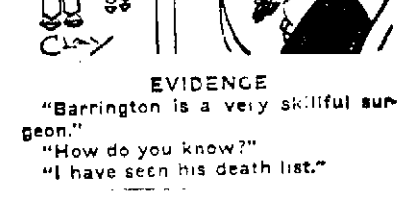

Where do you pig-stickers expect to land us with your high prices, anyway, demanded the clothier of the butcher.
Oh, nonchalantly replied the meatman, we're only following your suit.

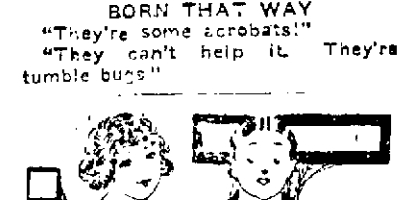

Her Dad: The fact is that I cannot give my daughter a dowry just at present.
Sutor: That's all right. I can love her for herself in the meantime.

Lady: Would you be willing to let me have a chance?
Hobo: I'm wretched. I'm the chance, mum?

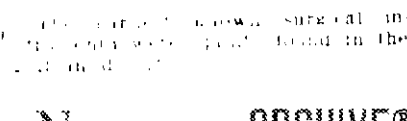

"Barrington is a very skillful surgeon."
"How do you know?"
"I have seen his death list."

"They're some acrobats."
"They can't help it. They're tumble bugs."

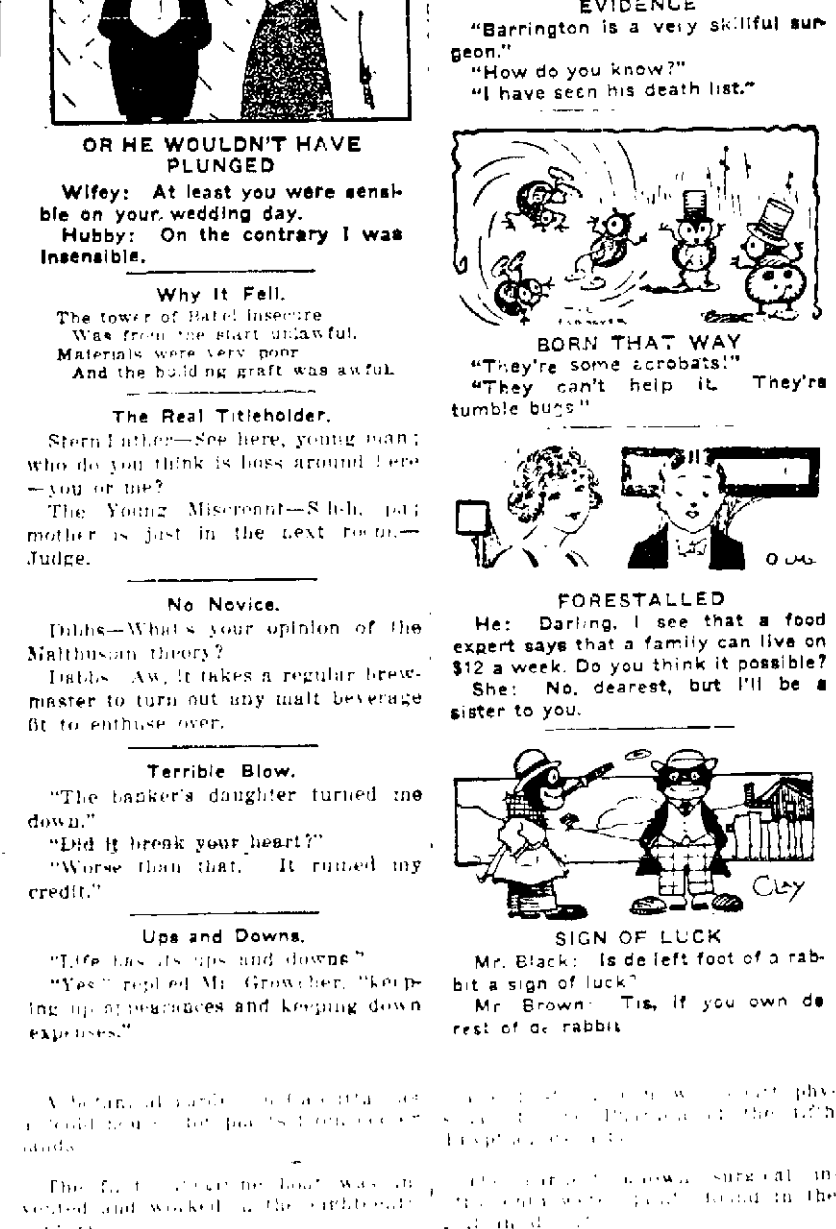

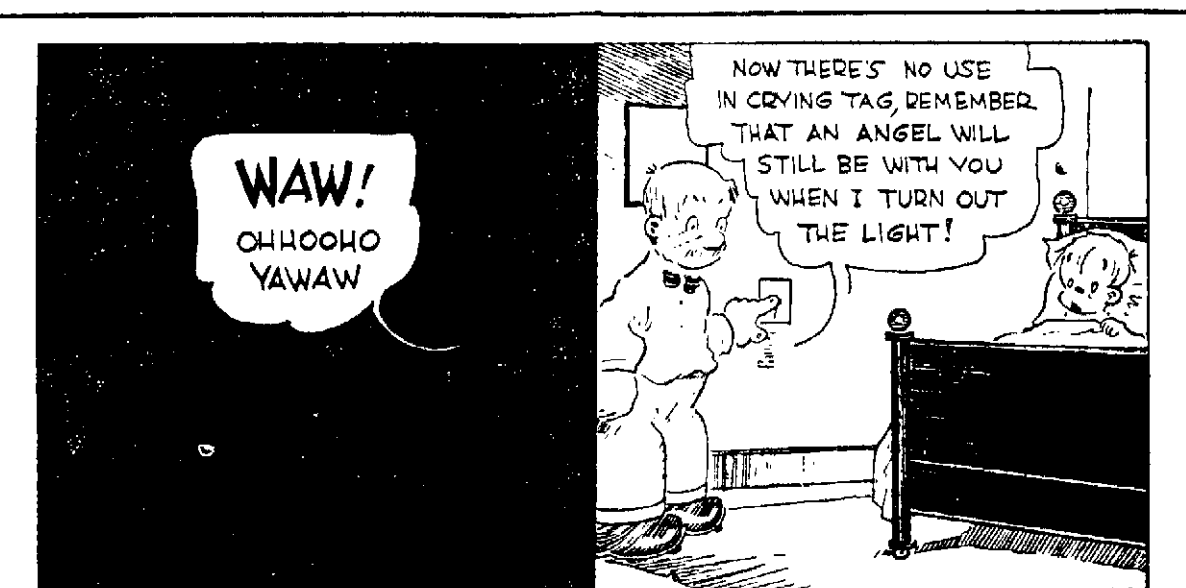

He: Darling, I see that a food expert says that a family can live on $12 a week. Do you think it possible?
She: No, dearest, but I'll be a sister to you.
